DEATH OF POPULAR YOUNG MAN

Mr Barry Quarrier, a popular automotive worker in Footscray, died in an accident while working on a car at Melton last week.

Mr Quarrier, who was 27, worked at D.P. Automotive, engine reconditioners, in Victoria St., Footscray.

He lived at Melton with his wife and he was working on his wife's car at their home when the accident occurred.

It is believed that the car was without its wheels and that a hydraulic jack which held part of it above him slipped causing the car to come down on him.

Barry Quarrier was the eldest of four sons and a daughter of Mr and Mrs Bob Quarrier, of Stooke St., Kingsville.

Following his marriage with Miss Heather Finn, he lived at Sunshine, before moving to Melton last year. There are no children of the marriage.

His wife's parents also live at Melton.

The funeral service at Sunshine on Tuesday of last week was widely attended and the funeral followed to Melton Cemetery.

At Footscray Council last week, Cr J. Bristow said that the family were good citizens of the district. The council stood in tribute.
